

The Engineers of the Future

“Arkwright has made a significant difference in my life and was the single most influential factor in making my career choices.”

Before hearing of Arkwright Lucy Crampton had not seriously considered engineering as a career. Partnered with Lloyds Register it had an amazing impact on her self-confidence at the age of 16.

After a visit to Lloyds Register in London and spending three days with the local site in Nottingham, she decided to go on to University to study Mechanical Engineering.

Having made this decision, she deferred her place at Hull University and participated in the Year In Industry Scheme. She was fortunate to secure sponsorship from her placement company, Sandiacre Packaging, for her university course.

After graduating from Hull with a 2.1 she was offered a position at Sandiacre Packaging as a Project Engineer in their newly opened office in Pennsylvania, USA. The experience of working in America has given Lucy an insight into new culture and business environments and she is now working towards professional status. Lucy clearly believes that Arkwright was the starting point.

“Receiving my Arkwright Scholarship was a pivotal point in my current career. I was given a great awareness of Engineering/ Technology by the Award and my particular sponsor Lloyds Register.”

Lucy Crampton

“Providing support to young enthusiastic students through Arkwright Scholarships is highly effective, with many scholars going on to follow a career in engineering. Lloyd's Register continues to provide support to the scheme to encourage young people to take up the challenges of industry.”
